Top Event Location in the City at The Westin Grand: The Dragon House with a Spacious 3,000 Square Meter Garden

Berlin, in February 2007 – The Westin Grand Berlin, situated in the historical core of Berlin, has a hidden jewel – a 3,000 square meter garden in the inner court of the hotel, an exceptional place for all seasons of the year to hold meetings, incentives, conferences and events for up to 600 persons. Green and fragrant islands, lavender and quiescent zones coin the hidden oasis in the midst of the big city and provide for a perfect balance between focused sessions and relaxing breaks. The completely glazed Dragon House, flooded by natural light and equipped with state-of-the-art technology, is available as a closed meeting area for up to 100 persons.

Guests can reach the hidden hotel garden on the second floor via the impressive staircase of the hotel. This outdoor location is unique, whether it be for barbecues, weddings, parties, fine dining or relaxing seminar breaks. Landscaped in the style of European and minimalist gardens, the idyllic green oasis with fountains, graceful bronze sculptures, seating areas and a pavilion is inviting for short walks, stimulating conversations or even a relaxing sunbath. The garden can cater for up to 600 persons for cocktail or party events and for seated events up to 250 persons.

The glazed Dragon House is elevated above the summer garden where orchids used to be cultured – the characteristic flowers of the Westin Grand Berlin – and now here stands the completely renovated Dragon House as an exceptional function area for conferences or festivities for up to 100 persons. It received this name because of the four bronze dragon statues adorning the roof, which symbolise wisdom and fortune. Built in the style of a Japanese teahouse, the interior extends a Far East ambience full of light and quiescence.
